

Music

At Harrodian, our aim is to bring the magic of music to the widest possible audience and to encourage pupils of all ages to play and perform together. We achieve this by selecting members of extra-curricular music groups according to ability rather than age.

The School is bursting with song. Seven choirs sing at the School's spring and autumn concerts and the Christmas Carol Concert. Meanwhile, the roster of individuals and musical groups – among them saxophone and string ensembles, a jazz band and a full orchestra – which perform at these events and other recitals, continues to grow year by year.

Our team of full and part-time qualified Music staff and the many specialists who provide our pupils with diverse one-to-one instrumental tuition, are passionate about introducing Harrodians to all kinds of musical styles from classical to jazz and beyond.

“

The first requirement for any pupil keen to get into music at Harrodian is a simple willingness to have a go and to have fun.

– Director of Music, Hannah Ashe

Visit The Arts @ www.harrodian.com and follow us @HarrodianNews

Some music events at Harrodian:

Above: A cellist in the orchestra performs at the Autumn Concert. Above right: The Harrodian Jazz Band plays at Budapest Jazz Club as part of their tour to Hungary. Right: Winners and judges of our annual rock and pop songwriting competition - Battle of the Bands. Below: A Prep Choir performs in our annual Carol Concert at St Paul's Church in Hammersmith.

